About the instructors:

Megan Compton is a USDF Silver medalist on her way to Gold with self-raised and trained horses, a USDF “L” Graduate with Distinction, and has an extensive background in natural horsemanship. Specializing in starting young horses under saddle and helping the misunderstood horses find joy in their work again, Megan has a unique approach to training sport horses with the clear intention of respecting the horse’s dignity and produce a happy equine athlete.

Matt McLaughlin specializes in training and instruction from training level thorough Grand Prix dressage. Matt has successfully trained multiple horses finished in haute école including Capriole, Courbette, and Levade. He has earned the USDF Gold rider Medals and USDF “L” Graduate with Distinction. Audiences relate to Matt’s use of humor, kindness, and frank speaking to demonstrate his training methods. His interactive style and focus on training allow individuals of any discipline to benefit from his sessions.
